

Group Study Rooms

Pfau Library has a total of 13 group study rooms on the upper floors. Most have whiteboards; dry-erase markers and erasers are available at the Check-Out Desk. All have at least one electrical outlet. Please close the door to keep your conversations from bothering others. Group study rooms are only for groups of at least two people! An individual cannot "hold" a room for a group, and any individual found occupying a group study room must vacate it if a group arrives.

Six of the rooms are available on a first-come, first-served basis. Two of these are designated "Multi-Group Study Rooms," with several tables to accommodate more than one group. Groups must be willing to share these rooms so long as a table is unoccupied.

Two individual study carrels are also available; one has electrical outlets.

Reservations

Seven group study rooms on the 3rd floor, one individual study carrel on 4th floor, and two "Multimedia Collaboration Rooms" on the 5th floor may be reserved in advance.
